WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

AN ACTOR'S WRITER

This lecture-demonstration is a celebration of Shakespeare's life and works aimed at increasing an awareness and enjoyment of his plays. It is the product of extensive research into the period with a particular emphasis on life as a player in the Elizabethan and Jacobean theatre, and gives an entertaining and historically accurate view of life backstage at The Globe. These details give a new perspective on the plays themselves and lead to a fuller understanding based on a knowledge of playhouse practise.

The lecture is given by Colin David REESE, a professional actor, director and teacher for over 25 years, who has worked extensively in Great-Britain, Canada and France.

The lecture lasts approximately 50 minutes and can be booked through APT at the above address, for a fee of 300 EUROS (plus travelling expenses out of the Paris area).
